DETAILED ACTION

- 1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

- 2. Claims 1, 11, 15 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Franck et al.

Frank et al. teach a method of extruding a strip of plastic, dispensing a decoration media onto the strip of plastic and thermoforming the strip portion in a decorated plastic product. [Note the Claims especially claims 1-4.]

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1732

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

- 1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
- 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
- 3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
- 4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 2-10, 12-14, 16-18 and 20-27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Franck et al.

Franck et al. teach the invention substantially as claimed. Frank et al. teach a method of extruding a strip of plastic, dispensing a decoration media onto the strip of plastic and thermoforming the strip portion in a decorated plastic product. [Note the Claims especially claims 1-4.]

However Franck et al. does not teach applying the decoration from a sprayer or a roller onto the extruded strip.

Franck et al. teaches placing a decoration media on the extruded plastic preform resulting in a laminated decorative strip. To paint by either spraying or rolling to provide the decorative effect onto the extruded strip would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art because to place the decoration as a preform or as a paint results in the same decorative plastic extruded strip. There is no criticality in how the decoration is placed on the strip alleged by applicant thus it would have been obvious to paint as opposed to putting on a decal as taught by Franck et al. renders applicant's claims as a whole obvious. With respect to the apparatus limitations regarding how the paint is applied, i.e., pump, sprayer, pressure etc. are obvious expedients with respect to spraying paint onto a surface and would not impart patentability to the method claims.
